Centerville Tract Builders Will Face Trial Here Today

The preliminary trial of C. G. Shuman and L. M. Lewis, developers of the Hansen Tract in Centerville, opens at 2 p.m. today (Friday) in Centerville Justice Court before Judge Manley Clark of Livermore.

The two men are each charged with "unlawfully engaging in the business and acting in the capacity of a contractor without having first obtained a license from the Contractors' License Board."

Dan B. Bodily, sub-contractor and builder of the new homes, entered a plea of guilty to a similar charge before Judge Allen G. Norris on Friday, June 27, but the case was continued until today for sentencing by Judge Clark. Maximum penalty for the offense is $500 fine or six months in jail, or both.

FORM CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

The charges against the three men were filed by August F. Rahlves, state inspector, of the contractors' license board, after he had been called into the case for an investigation by a Citizens' Committee composed of ten of the new veteran home-owners.

In the letter addressed to Rahlves the Citizens' Committee asked the following questions:

" . . . The lots on this tract all sold for $1,500; there are two priced houses, one $8,200 and the other $7,200. On several of the contracts the price of the smaller house is $7,400. How can there be a deviation in the original price of the home, when the government appraiser originally appraised them all at $7,200?"

" . . . Two different times Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johannesen tried to locate their priority number, which the bank, Mr. Shuman, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Bodily or the FHA would have to have to build their house, none of the above mentioned had a priority for their house. Why isn't there a priority, and how can the contractor build without one?"

WANT QUESTIONS ANSWERED

" . . . Why has Mr. Bodily, the general contractor, been given blue prints to these homes by Mr. Shuman and Mr. Lewis that do not in many ways correspond with the buyers' prints?"

The letter was signed by Harry Johannesen, Gerald F. Meekins, Gerald Rehrig, Keith Kimmel, Wallace C. Bowers, William T. Allan, Carl H. Bauer, Don Q. Fore, Tony E. Correia and John B. Patterson.

DECOTO CHAMBER VOTES INDUSTRY RE-ZONING PLAN

Following a heated discussion of the present zoning restrictions in Decoto between representatives of Western Pacific and Southern Pacific railroad representatives and members of the Decoto Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last week, a vote was taken throwing the majority of the area surrounding the community wide open to heavy industry.

All the land between the two railways, which run parallel through the town, and extending 500 feet on each side was re-zoned for industrial sites with the exception of the thickly settled residential and commercial districts.

DEPENDENT ON INDUSTRY

The railway representatives told the chamber members that the economic life of a community is dependent on industry and that industry in turn is dependent on rail transit. Guest speakers were F. B. Stratton, industrial commissioner, and C. W. Mangum, general agent of the Western Pacific and R. D. Rodenberger, traveling freight agent of the Southern Pacific.

All of the speakers pointed out that industry will seek locations where it is not necessary to require re-zoning to secure sites and added that Decoto still has large acreages available and two railways running through the town, making it particularly attractive to industry.

CALL FOR VOTE

President P. J. Faletti presided at the meeting and called for the vote on the re-zoning plan at the conclusion of the discussion.

Faletti also postponed a vote of decision on the location of a chemical fertilizer plant on the block bounded by F, G and 11th streets, pending expressions of property owners.

ADMITS STEALING CAR IN NEWARK

A 17-year-old San Lorenzo Village boy is in Alameda County Juvenile Hall this week charged with the theft of five automobiles during the month of June, one of which belonged to Lino Lopez, Newark.

The youth readily admitted stealing the automobiles and stated that he took them because he "was anxious to own one but had no money to buy a car." All the stolen machines have been recovered and returned to the owners. He also admitted stealing a camera from the Lopez machine but stated that he "gave it away because he was afraid to take it home."

TO CLOSE TEMPORORILY

Because of repairs and cleaning up of the Irvington School the activities of the Youth Center will be suspended until further notice.

The closing event of the year was the big picnic held at Alum Rock Park on June 27. The young people and their chaperones had a wonderful time, and are looking forward to more good times when the Center reopens.

Duarte, Centerville; sister of Mrs. Rose Ferry, Hayward, John S. Duarte, Niles, and Joseph Duarte, San Leandro.

She is also survived by 14 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Interment was at Old Mission Cemetery, Mission San Jose.

BRISTOW IS NEW BOARD PRESIDENT

E. Dixon Bristow, district school superintendent for Niles, was elected president of the Alameda County Board of Education at the board meeting held July 2, it was announced this week.

He has been a member of the board of education for 19 years, and has held his position at the Niles school for 24 years.

NATIONAL GUARD FOR THIS AREA BEING FORMED

Plans are under way for the forming of two units of the National Guard in southern Alameda county, it was disclosed this week by Col. Vincent M. Hidalgo at the regular luncheon meeting of the Niles Chamber of Commerce at the International Kitchen.

First step will be a meeting in the council chambers of the city hall in Hayward at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, July 22, to which all interested persons are invited.

Col. Hidalgo, chief of staff of the 52nd Infantry Division under command of Major General R. E. Mittelstaedt, stated that a mechanized cavalry reconnaisance troop, comprising 7 officers and 127 men is in prospect, as well as an ordnance maintenance company, composed of 4 officers, 1 warrant officer, and 113 men.

Officers and men who have seen service in armored or mechanized cavalry units are especially urged to attend the meeting July 22, the colonel said.

Tentative plans include the construction of an armory on the grounds of the Hayward Union High School, for which the state has already set aside $150,000. Except on drill nights, the armory would be available for public use.

Colonel Hidalgo advised The Register following the chamber meeting that, if sufficient interest is shown by the men of Washington Township in the organizing of these two units, it may be possible to set up National Guard units in Washington Township and to construct an armory.

Also a visitor at this week's chamber meeting was Secretary-Manager George Cracknell of the Hayward Area Chamber of Commerce, who recounted recent activities of that organization and asked the local chamber's support of a project for roadside beautification.

He also spoke of the chamber's interest in a southern bay crossing and in the dredging of the southern bay for shipping.

Brought up for future discussion by the Niles chamber was the subject of establishing a county or state park on the historic site of the Vallejo Mill, a project which has been proposed by Mrs. Laura Whipple.

SERVICES HELD FOR RAY LAWRENCE

Funeral services for Raymond Lawrence, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawrence, Warm Springs, were held last week from the parlors of the Chapel of the Palms, Centerville, followed by a requiem mass at St. Joseph's Church, Mission San Jose.

Lawrence succumbed in a San Jose hospital after a lingering illness.

He was the brother of Mrs. Carrie Rose, San Jose; Mrs. Elvera Enos, Santa Clara; Mrs. Madeline Smith, San Jose; Seraphin Lawrence, San Jose; Mrs. Cecelia Mattos, Niles; Mrs. Beatrice Dutre, Warm Springs; Albert Lawrence, Joseph Scown, and Evelyn Lawrence, all of Warm Springs.

Interment was at Calvary Cemetery, San Jose.

ERECT LANDMARK FOR VALLEJO MILL

Two historical landmarks were erected on the highway east of Niles last week by the Department of Public Works, Division of Highways.

The stone markers are seven feet in height and are located one-half mile each way from the site of the Vallejo Flour Mill.

A bronze plaque on each marker bears the inscription: "One-half mile to Vallejo Flour Mill.

"Site of flour mill, Niles, built in 1853 by Don Jose De Vallejo, brother of General Vallejo, on his rancho Arroyo De La Alameda.

"Niles was once called 'Vallejo Mills.

"Stone aqueduct carrying water for mill parallels Niles Canyon Road.

"Historical Landmark No. 46."

APRICOT CANNING SEASON CLOSES

The apricot canning season closed here this week with cannery officials reporting the volume of cases packed about one-third of last year's mark.

Local growers had vowed that they would dry the majority of their crop unless they received their price of $110 per ton and apparently they did just that. This year's crop was estimated to be between 60 and 70 per cent of last year's, but the fact that canneries packed but one-third of last year's run indicates that there were many more cots dried than the previous year.

Canneries operated about 14 days, Booth Cannery at Centerville closing down Thursday and the Marlo Company at Decoto ended their season Wednesday. They expect to reopen for the peach canning season in about 10 days.

Top price paid for cots in this area this year was reported to be $80 per ton.

A. J. PETSCHE TO LEAVE NILES P. G. & E. POST

A. J. Petsche, manager of the Niles P. G. & E. office, is being congratulated this week upon his appointment by the company as district manager of the Colusa area. The announcement came as a pleasant surprise to Petsche, who has been with the P. G. & E. in Niles for 17 years.

The promotion comes as recognition for the many years of service he has given the company.

Born in Wakenberg, Colorado, in 1900, Petsche has been employed by the P. G. & E. since 1925. He first worked as a clerk in the East Bay division, and was soon promoted to the sales department. In March of 1930 he came to Niles as local manager.

During his stay in Niles he has been very active in civic affairs, having been secretary of the Niles Chamber of Commerce for 17 years, secretary of the Men's Club of Washington Township for 17 years, as well as a past president of the Men's Club, and of the Centerville Lions Club. He is also a member of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee.

Succeeding him as manager of the Niles office will be Peter D. Juhl (the J is pronounced as a Y), who is especially happy over his appointment, since he is really a township man, having been born in Decoto and graduated from Washington Union High School.

Juhl, who was with the P. G. & E. in Oakland for 19 years and with the company in Berkeley for three years, is a brother of Mrs. Erle Hygelund of Centerville. He and his wife and 14-year-old son expect to find a home in Niles. He will take over the managership of the Niles office on July 21.

PLEAD GUILTY TO STARTING BLAZE

At a special session of Niles Justice Court held yesterday by Judge E. A. Quaresma the four men charged with starting the fire in Morrison Canyon Monday evening entered pleas of guilty and were each sentenced to 15 days in the county jail.

The defendants were: John Jovan, 28, no address; Charles Lee Mason, 18, general delivery, Stockton; William Armstrong, 24, 228 West Wood street, Stockton; and David Weaver, 40, 31 East Lafayette street, Stockton.

AIRPLANE STOLEN FROM CENTERVILLE FIELD IS RECOVERED

A modern rustler with a preference for a first-class mode of traveling made a trip from Oakland to San Rafael via Centerville early Sunday morning, leaving a trail of abandoned machines behind him.

Don Hubbard, field superintendent at the Centerville Airport, arrived at the field here about 7 a.m. Sunday and immediately noticed that the gasoline pump had been broken and 11 gallons of aviation fuel stolen.

NEW AUTO ABANDONED

A hurried check of the planes kept at the field revealed that a 4-passenger Stinson "Voyager" belonging to Harry Bachstein of Oakland and valued at $6,000, was missing from the hangar. A new 1947 Chevrolet automobile with but 67 miles recorded on the speedometer was parked near the gasoline pump.

Hubbard telephoned Bachstein, an Oakland auto rental dealer, to determine if he had given permission for the plane to be flown. Upon learning that Bachstein knew nothing of the early morning flight, the police were notified and an all-points alarm was broadcast. The automobile was taken to the Crane Garage in Niles for a check for fingerprints.

FOUND NEAR SAN RAFAEL

About noon Monday the abandoned plane was spotted from the air by a San Rafael pilot. It was parked in a hay field two miles north of San Rafael and was undamaged. From the amount of gasoline remaining in the tanks it is believed that the plane was flown directly from the airport here to the field where it was found.

Charles Osborn, chief flight instructor at the Centerville field, flew the plane back to the airport here Monday afternoon.

Meantime, police had determined that the new automobile had been stolen from the Dahl Chevrolet Garage in Oakland.

POLICE NAB MEN BLAMED FOR FIRE

Niles, Centerville, Livermore and Mission San Jose fire departments Monday evening battled a grass fire on the hills above Morrison Canyon south of Niles for more than two hours.

An estimated 55 acres of grazing land on the Norman Rose Ranch was burned before the fire, which attracted hundreds of spectators, could be brought under control.

Alameda county deputy sheriffs early Tuesday morning arrested four men, two of them Negroes, who were seen near the area where the fire started. Under close questioning they admitted that they had been picking fruit in this area and were camping at the site of the fire and that the blaze "probably" started from one of their cigarettes. Two other men with them at the time escaped the police roundup.

The men told police that they battled the fire for some time but when they saw it was getting out of control they left.

YOUTHS GET SIX MONTHS FOR THEFT

Two youths, Arthur S. Bittinger, 21, Youngstown, Ohio, and Walter Espinosa, 17, Stockton, were each sentenced to six months in the county jail when they appeared before Judge E. A. Quaresma in Niles Justice Court yesterday.

The youths were charged with the theft of a wallet containing $40 from Thomas A. Borden, 18, McKees Rock, Pa., while the three were residing at a Niles camp. The charge was reduced to petty theft yesterday and the pair entered pleas of guilty.

NEW STREET LIGHT FOR SANTOS ROAD

A. J. Petsche, manager of the Niles office of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was instructed this week by the County Board of Supervisors to install a street light at the intersection of John Santos road and Centerville-Irvington Highway.

The installation of the light was requested by the Southern Alameda County Progressive Club.

Lighting Campaign Ends; Night Football Is Assured

The Washington Union High School Huskies will play their 1947 football schedule in the evenings under the lights at the school stadium.

The announcement was made this week that the two-month campaign to raise funds for the lighting of the field had ended with a sufficient amount of money to finance the project.

The goal of $14,000 had originally been set up as the amount needed to be raised through the sale of non-interest bearing scrip but the construction committee, headed by Loren Marriott, Centerville, last week opened bids for the construction work and accepted the bid of A. S. Enos of the Centerville Electric Company for slightly less than $10,000. Joe Adams, chairman of the collections committee, revealed that a little more than $10,000 in scrip had been sold so the "go ahead" signal was given.

BEGIN IMMEDIATELY

The contract is now being drawn up and Enos stated Wednesday that he would begin work on erecting the lights immediately. "The only thing that might delay us now is the availability of the necessary equipment," Enos said. He revealed that the field will be illuminated by 80 flood lights.

Warren Gravestock, general chairman of the stadium executive committee, is now planning for a special ceremony at the opening game at which time the field will be dedicated as Memorial Stadium, honoring the servicemen of Washington Township.

SIX HOME GAMES

Irving Hird, Huskie gridiron coach, stated yesterday that the local eleven will play six games under the lights here this season. Their first encounter will be against Lincoln the evening of September 26. Other teams who will see action here this fall include Jefferson, Santa Clara, Gilroy, San Jose Tech, and Fremont.

TOWNHIPS CHAMBER MEETING PLANNED

Charles Wauhab, president of the Centerville Chamber of Commerce, has scheduled a special meeting for Tuesday, July 22, to be held at the International Kitchen.

Wauhab stated yesterday that delegates from each of the civic organizations of Washington Township will be invited to attend for a discussion of the recently proposed Washington Township Chamber of Commerce.

According to Wauhab the organization would be composed of delegates from each of the Improvement Clubs and Chambers of the Township to conduct any business of a township-wide scope. "We are not attempting to do away with any community organization," Wauhab said. "It is very important that each community maintain its present chamber or improvement club. We merely are interested in determining the feelings toward an organization that would bring us all closer together for further development of the township," he concluded.

WALNUT CREEK WANTS HOSPITAL

Interesting to local persons who have been working toward establishment of a township hospital have been recent news stories in city papers concerning efforts in the Walnut Creek area in setting up a hospital district.

Had it not been for the amendment to the state hospital district act sponsored by the Washington Township Planning Committee, formation of a hospital district in Contra Costa county would be out of the question, since that county exceeds the former population limit prescribed in the law before amendment.

At a recent meeting in Walnut Creek it was pointed out that the district plan is the most feasible way of building a hospital, and that construction cost would run about $12,550 per bed.

BARLEY CROP YIELD

The barley crop last year was estimated to be about 263,350,000 bushels. This was 12 per cent below the ten-year average of 289,598,000 bushels for 1935-44.

KILLED BY FALL IN NILES GRAVEL PIT

Felix Hernandez, 38, a section worker for the Western Pacific Railroad here for the past three months, fell to his death in a Niles gravel pit on July 4.

Hernandez, along with two companions, was hiking when he ventured too near the 90-foot precipice. The coroner's report revealed that death was caused by a skull fracture. Identification was made by papers he was carrying and his family in Los Angeles was notified.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Virginia Hernandez, and two children of Los Angeles; and two sisters, Angelina Palafox and Rachael Palafox, also of Los Angeles.

Funeral services were conducted from the parlors of the Berge Mortuary Company, Niles, Tuesday at 8:30 a.m., followed by a requiem mass at Corpus Christi Church at 9 a.m.

Interment was a Calvary Cemetery, Los Angeles, on Thursday.

AGRICULTURE BILL AWAITS SIGNATURES

According to a late report yesterday, Governor Earl Warren had not yet signed Assembly Bill 2715, which would set up a state-operated agricultural district out of four townships in southern Alameda county.

Meanwhile Francis Dunn Jr., author of the bill, stated, "I would suggest that all interested persons be induced to urged the governor to sign the measure."

Dunn explained that the bill, as finally passed, includes a similar provision for Sacramento and other counties. The other counties may also be making representations to the governor for and against the bill, Dunn indicated.

LOCAL GROWERS ASKED TO EXHIBIT

Growers of vegetables from this area will have an opportunity of showing their products at the 1947 California State Fair in Sacramento, August 28-Sept. 7, according to Supervisor Chester Stanley.

Through the cooperation of the county supervisors, the State Fair group has allocated a space for local displays. Vintners will also show their products featuring wines from the Irvington and Mission San Jose districts. Flowers from the Hayward area and San Leandro district will be entered in a special class, states Stanley.

All Ages Thrive on Purees

Home-canned purees are excellent items to have on hand in your pantry. They're nourishing foods for infants and everyone finds them delicious served up in cream soups and souffles. A puree may be made from green peas, asparagus, lima beans, or spinach, etc. Select fresh vegetables and prepare as for cooking. Steam until soft or cook in the smallest possible amount of water. Press through a fine sieve. Add boiling water, if necessary, to make the puree about the consistency of thick cream. Do not salt purees intended for infant feeding. Use one teaspoon salt to each quart of puree to be used by adults. Reheat to boiling and pour into hot Ball jars. Process quart jars 60 minutes at 10 pounds pressure, half-pint jars 50 minutes at the same amount of pressure.

Tomato Chutney for Taste Delight

Home-canned tomato chutney is a year-round taste delight which many housewives put up in quantity, often by request! It's delicious with meats, does wonders for meats served cold. This recipe, from the universally used Ball Blue Book on home canning, will please your family:

12 ripe tomatoes
3 onions
3 sweet peppers
6 tart apples
1 pod hot peppers
1 clove garlic
1 cup seeded raisins
3 cups brown sugar
1 tablespoon ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups vinegar

Skin tomatoes and onions, seed peppers, pare and core apples, wash raisins, then run all through food chopper. Combine with other ingredients and cook until thick. Pour into hot jars and seal according to manufacturer's instructions.

BAY CROSSING IS SUBJECT TONIGHT

A list-ditch fight to get the Joint Army-Navy Board's proposal for a southern crossing accepted gets under way this evening (Friday), at 8 o'clock in the San Leandro city hall council chambers, according to Frank M. King, secretary of the Southern Alameda County Committee for a Second Bay crossing.

The meeting, sponsored by the committee and with the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce playing host, will have a strong representation from southern Alameda County, San Joaquin Valley, San Jose and communities directly south of San Francisco.

Chief speaker at the meeting will be Colonel E. H. Marks, representative of the Joint Army-Navy Board, who will speak with full authority from the Secretaries of War and Navy. He will present a detailed, easy-to-understand analysis of the reasons prompting the Army-Navy Board to select a southern crossing, not the least of which is the value from a naval and military standpoint. He will back up his statements with a number of interesting charts, facts and figures.

The meeting, the first of its kind, is open to the public and members of the press.

STATE STRESSES PLAGUE CONTROL

Death of a 12-year-old boy living in Modoc county from bubonic plague is reported by the State Department of Public Health. Tests in the state laboratory confirmed the diagnosis made by the physician who attended the boy. Death occurred June 20.

Although the boy's residence was Alturas, it is believed he contracted plague while staying at the Fitzhugh Ranger Station about 11 miles east of Alturas.

This is the first case of plague to have been reported in California since 1944 when the nonfatal infection was contracted by a laboratory employee in San Francisco while working with infected material. From 1941 through 1943 there were four cases reported, all in Siskiyou county, of which three cases were fatal.

"Plague is contracted by the bite of a flea which previously has fed on an infected rodent," Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, deputy state director of public health, said. "Surveys conducted by the State Department of Public Health have shown that plague is present in ground squirrels, chipmunks and other wild rodents in a number of California counties, but due to effective control measures few human cases occur.

"People can protect themselves against plague by avoiding wild rodents and their fleas. Buildings should be made rodent proof. Garbage and refuse dumps should be destroyed. Barns and other places which harbor rodents should be thoroughly sprayed at regular intervals with DDT. Wild rodents, dead or alive, should not be handled.

LOCAL MAIL IS DELAYED BY CRASH

Mail service to many of the towns in Washington Township was disrupted Monday when the mail truck serving this area was involved in a highway crash one and one-half miles south of Irvington on the Warm Springs highway, at 6:30 p.m.

The mail truck collided with a gasoline truck driven by Joseph Rose of Irvington as Rose attempted to turn off the highway into the H. N. Roger ranch. The gasoline truck was struck from the rear and overturned in the driveway to the ranch. The 300 gallons of gasoline in the tank was not spilled, thus preventing the threat of a serious fire. The mail truck was driven by George Gouveia of San Francisco.

Neither driver was injured in the crash.

BOND ISSUE VOTED BY NEW DISTRICT

A special election authorizing a bond issue up to $100,000 was voted favorably 66 to 0 Tuesday by the residents of the area bounded by Santos and Mowery roads and Centerville-Irvington highway.

The bond issue will be to raise a fund to cover the cost of laying sewer lines throughout the district, which was recently annexed to the Union Sanitary District. It was pointed out that the total cost of connecting the present houses in the area to the lines would not take the full amount authorized but the $100,000 issue was voted to prevent the necessity of additional bond elections as the area builds up. The homes in the new Suhnel Tract along Santos road were included in the annexation and bond issue.

The election Tuesday polled the identical vote registered in the annexation election this spring, 66 favoring and none opposed.

New Grandson for The Hugh Kibbys

All is quiet at the Kibby home in Niles, although there has been plenty of excitement there for the past two weeks, what with a new baby grandson for Mrs. Kibby to take care of, not to mention his four-year-old brother.

The new little grandson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Simmons (Barbara Kibby), was born at Merritt Hospital on June 28. He has been named Richard Charles and weighed 5 pounds 10 ounces at birth. When he was three days old, he and his mother and brother, Billy, arrived at the Kibby home. All of them have returned to their home in Oakland now, however, and the Kibby home, according to Mrs. Kibby, seems pretty dull at the moment.

"Bud", incidentally, who is also a graduate of Washington High, was here in June visiting his family, as was his fiancee., Miss Betty Benda of Portland. The two were accompanied back to Portland by Gordon who was thus provided with a good excuse for going somewhere by plane.

Home Nuptials for Centerville Couple

A double-ring ceremony last Saturday evening united in marriage Lavina Jean Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Hayes of Baine avenue, Centerville, and Orin A. Dunbar of Irvington. The ceremony was performed at the Hayes home with the Rev. Don Kirkbride of the Niles Congregational Church officiating. Only immediate members of the two families were present.

A reception, attended by more than 100 friends of the young couple, was held at the Country Club in Centerville which was beautifully decorated with gladiolias. After the bride and groom had cut the wedding cake and opened their many lovely gifts, the guests were treated to refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, and wedding cake.

For her wedding attire, the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a pale blue afternoon street-length frock, with short veil, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Joseph Costa of Irvington, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. She wore a pale green street-length dress with pink carnation corsage.

Doing best man honors was James Hayes, Centerville, brother of the bride.

The living-room of the Hayes home was banked with flowers and white tapers.

Mrs. Delphine Dunbar, mother of the benedict, chose a black dress and hat with a pink carnation corsage and pink accessories. Mrs. Hayes, the bride's mother, was in an afternoon dress of gray with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Washington High with the class of '47. Mr. Dunbar is also a graduate of Washington High and served for two and a half years with the Army Air Corps during the war. He is now employed as assistant manager of Safeway Grocery in Centerville.

The couple, now on a honeymoon, will return after two weeks to make their new home on Santos road, Centerville.

Grabill, a former pastor at the Niles Congregational Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dutra of Niles are the proud parents of a new daughter born July 1 at Hayward Hospital. The new addition to the family weighed 7 pounds 4½ ounces and has been named Beverly Mae.

Grimmers Entertain

Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Grimmer of Irvington were hosts last week-end to Dr. and Mrs. Samuels of Los Angeles.

Irvington Man Weds Washington Girl

The Grace Episcopal Church in Ellensburg, Washington, was the setting for the double-ring ceremony that united in marriage June 29, Betty Leah Pease of Thorp, Washington, and Mr. Wesley Lauren Hammond of Irvington.

Baskets of varied white flowers furnished the decor of the church, and the bride and groom said their "I do's" before an altar bedecked with white roses and white tapers. The center aisle was covered with a white carpet, leading to the altar.

Miss Harriet Cushing, a friend of the bride, sang two solos, "Oh Perfect Love" and "Ave Maria," accompanied on the organ by her mother, Mrs. Harry Cushing.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pease of Thorp, chose the traditional white satin for her wedding gown. It was fashioned with a lace yoke and long train, with fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white gladiolas and white shasta daisies.

The maid of honor was Nancy Pease, sister-in-law of the bride. She was in a blue marquisette and net formal with matching picture hat of net.

The bridesmaids, Nelda Hammond, sister of the groom, and Viola Larson, of Seattle, wore yellow and pink respectively.

Their formals were of appliqued voile, with sweetheart necklines and matching picture hats of net.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of white flowers tied with ribbons to match their gowns.

The flower girl, Bette Bergman, cousin of the bride, wore a long, blue satin dress with a white picture hat, on top of her bright red curls. She carried a bouquet of white and blue flowers.

Standing up as best man for his cousin was Wallace Greb. Ushers were Donald and Philip George, cousins of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride. The table was centered with a wedding cake, circled by fresh tiny, deep-pink rose buds. Cream colored candles circled by pale pink and yellow roses, were at either end of the table. The color scheme for the reception was creme and pink. Flower arrangements for the home were done by Miss Ebba Rae Benbow, cousin of the groom. Mrs. Walter Greb, aunt of the groom, poured at the reception.

The benedict's relatives from California attending the wedding were Wallace Greb of San Leandro, Ebba Rae and Lester Benbow of Irvington, Bob Styles of San Mateo, and Nelda Hammond, Irvington, who motored to Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greb, aunt and uncle of the groom from San Leandro, made the trip by train.

Out-of-town guests of the bride came from Seattle, Bellingham, Yakima and Toppenish, Wash.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. Everett E. Hammond of Irvington, is a graduate of Washington Union High School and served in the Navy for three and a half years. He is presently employed at the P. G. & E. at Newark.

The bride is a graduate of Thorp High School.

The newlyweds left immediately after the reception by car for California where they will reside in Irvington.

A WESTERNER IN WASHINGTON

By ALLEN DRURY

SIZING UP THE FIELD

Two of the West's shrewdest political analysts, one a Democrat and one a Republican, seem agreed as of today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York is running far ahead for the Republican nomination and that Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington stands an excellent chance of being tapped for second place on the re-election ticket of President Harry S. Truman.

Those two senators, basing their estimates largely on contacts with party workers in the western states, are unanimous on the fact that Mr. Truman will have a real fight on his hands if he hopes to capture the White House for four years in his own right.

The Democrat in particular, a hard-boiled gentleman who never lets his partisan hopes confuse his objective judgment, describes the President as being in "a terrible situation" politically. He supports this by a methodical state-by-state analysis of the major northern and western states which Mr. Truman must have to win.

There is no real Democratic organization, he says, in Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana or California. With the exception of California's Sheridan Downey (D) and Illinois' Scott Lucas (D), every senator from these states is a Republican. Most of the governors are too, and even if they aren't they are obscure and relatively unknown on the national scene.

Mr. Truman, this observer says, "desperately" needs a strong vice-presidential candidate from one of these states—but there are none. If he wants a Westerner, Wallgren definitely has the inside track and would be chosen over Downey. But Wallgren could not swing any other state, might possibly not even carry his own.

Lucas, now minority whip of the Senate, is definitely interested and is definitely being considered. His vote-getting ability outside Illinois, however, is not considered great.

One other senator—Rhode Island's very able J. Howard McGrath, one of the two or three top newcomers to the Senate—might be a possibility, this Democrat said; but the size of his state and his relatively unknown status with the rest of the country might tend to make him a poor running-mate for the President.

Interior Secretary Julius A. Krug of Wisconsin was also mentioned by the Democrat as a possibility being discussed at the White House.

Conceding Dewey's advantage in the Republican race, the Democratic senator said Gov. Earl Warren of California would be "ideal" as a Republican vice-presidential candidate.

This was disputed by the Republican analyst on the ground that a national candidate must be "one or the other," and that Warren's election on both tickets last year 'inevitably makes him obligated in some degree to the Democrats."

The Republican senator said he had heard some talk of a Dewey-Stassen ticket and some talk that the stock of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) is "booming" as a result of his success in making the labor bill into law over the President's veto. He still felt, however, that Dewey is "far, far out in front" for the nomination.

He said the New Yorker, if nominated, will have what amounts to a free hand in choosing his running-mate—a condition which will also hold true in the case of Mr. Truman on the Democratic ticket.

The Republican also said he thought the G.O.P. will pick up several seats in the Senate in 1948—one in Montana, where New Dealing James E. Murray (D) is up, one in Colorado if Sen. Edwin C. Johnson goes through with his announced intention to resign ("We haven't got a chance if he runs"), and possibly one in New Mexico where Gen. Pat Hurley, licked last year by Sen. Dennis Chavez (D., N.M.) is seriously considering a campaign for the seat of Sen. Carl A. Hatch (D. N.M.).

Overshadowing the senate outlook, however, is the conviction of both these practical Westerners that it will probably be Dewey on the Republican ticket and very possibly Wallgren of Washington for second place with Mr. Truman.

P. G. & E. HONORS HARRY W. WEBER

Harry W. Weber, supervising foreman of the gigantic dispatching and switching station at Newark for the P. G. & E., was honored this week with a story of his life in the current issue of the P. G. & E. Progress, a company publication.

The story relates how Weber, who has been with the P. G. & E. for 34 years, first worked in wine blending, carpentry, concrete mixing and plumbing, but after visiting the sub-station at Livermore decided that the electrical business offered the most promising future.

According to the article, Weber started to work with the company on May 14, 1913, as an operator in the sub-station at Mission San Jose and soon became foreman.

Through study and diligent work he was promoted to foreman of the Newark station in October, 1921, and has been there ever since.

Sportsmen's News

Seasons, hours, limits and areas for hunting big game, and upland birds and game in 1947 were set recently at a meeting of the California Fish and Game Commission in the Supervisors Room in San Francisco, it was announced by Emil J. N. Ott Jr., executive director, California Division of Fish and Game.

The commission set the seasons as follows: Deer—coastal area—Districts 2, 2¼, 2½, 2¾, 3½, 4⅛, and 4¾, and the following additional area: Orange county and all of that portion of Riverside county lying easterly of the boundary between San Bernardino and Riverside counties, from its intersection with Orange county on the south and its intersection with U. S. Highway 60 west of Mira Loma on the north, southerly of U. S. Highway 60 to its intersection with State Highway 79, and westerly of State Highway 79 to its intersection with the San Diego county line.

The deer hunting season in the coastal area will be from August 7 to September 15, both dates inclusive.

Sierra Area: The deer hunting season will be from September 16 to October 15 in Districts 1, 1⅛, 1⅜, 1½, 1¾, 4, 4½, 22, 23, 25, and 101, excepting Orange county and that portion of Riverside county which are included in the early season.

In addition to the two-deer coastal area where the season extends from August 7 to September 15, two deer also may be taken in Del Norte, Humboldt and Trinity counties, and those portions of Tehama, Shasta and Siskiyou counties lying westerly of U. S. Highway 99 and 99W. The open season in these counties is from September 16 to October 15. Any person who is a resident of the Sierra area may possess, during the open season, one deer taken in the area; and one deer legally taken in a two-deer area.

Bear: November 15 to December 31, bag limit; one per day, one in possession, two per season. No trapping permitted.

Pheasants: November 21 to 30, inclusive, males only. Bag limit; two per day, two in possession, ten per season.

Quail: November 21 to December 31, both dates inclusive. Bag limit—eight per day, eight in possession, and 16 per week.

Tree squirrels: November 21 to December 31, in District 1, only. Bag limit—two per day, two in possession, eight per season.

Cottontail and Brush Rabbits: November 21 to December 31. Bag limit—eight per day, eight in possession, 16 per week.

Jackrabbits, Cottontail and Brush Rabbits in Districts 4, 4½, 4¾, 19 and 22, September 1 to December 31, excepting in portions of Districts 4¾ and 22, lying in Imperial county, where the season is from October 1 to December 31. Bag limit—eight per day, eight in possession, 16 per week.

Shooting hours. Upland game, which includes pheasants, quail, squirrels and rabbits, 8 a.m. until ½ hour after sunset during the first ten days, November 21 to 30, inclusive, of the upland game season. Thereafter, the shooting hours will be from one half hour before sunrise to one half hour after sunset.

Because many game refuges have fulfilled their purposes as protectors of breeding stock, and because other refuge areas have outlived their usefulness due to changes in the growth of cover and other factors, the Commission opened or abolished the following refuges:

1A, Siskiyou county; 1D, Trinity county; 1E, Shasta county; 1-I, Placer county; 1-N, Modoc and Siskiyou counties; 1-O, El Dorado county; 1R, Tuolumne county; 1S, Lassen county; 1T, Humboldt county; 1V, Plumas county; 3A, Santa Cruz county; 3C, Santa Barbara county; 3H, Santa Barbara county; 4C, Orange county; Huntington Lake, Fresno county, Fig Garden, Fresno county; Monterey Peninsula, Monterey county; portions of 4A, San Bernardino county; which will be open for the taking of deer, quail, waterfowl, and bandtail pigeons during the proper seasons, and a portion of 4E in San Diego county. 3D, Ventura county, reduced in size; 4G, Riverside county, reduced in size; 1Q, Lassen county, relocated and reduced in size.

'ALAMEDA COUNTY DAY' SCHEDULED

Sunday, August 31, will be officially known as Alameda County Day at the California State Fair in Sacramento.

A proclamation so declaring this day as one set aside for the county has been published by the fair directors and approved by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

A special train will convey thousands of county folks to the capital city on that date according to Supervisor Chester E. Stanley. The supervisors announce that William J. Herrmann has been named chairman-general of the Alameda County Boosters Club Committee for the occasion. Herrmann will contact all luncheon clubs and civic groups throughout the county extending them an official invitation to participate in the outing.

Featuring the day in Sacramento will be a double-header baseball game between the Oakland Acorns and the Sacramento Senators.

Alameda county visitors at the fair will be officially welcomed by officers of the Agricultural Society of the State of California and by ranking state officials.

EXPLAINS MEDICAL CARE TO VETERANS

Veterans of any war are entitled to hospitalization but dependent upon certain conditions when the disability requiring such care was not due to service, according to E. W. Forsell, Veteran Administration contact representative, who establishes temporary offices in the Memorial Building, Niles, each Monday from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

"Hospital treatment will be provided immediately for a service-connected condition or any emergency," Forsell stated. "However, in the case of treatment for a disability not due to service, it is necessary for the veteran to make preliminary application, because of the large number of veterans now being cared for in the hospitals."

According to Forsell, in an emergency the veterans's private doctor should call the chief of outpatient service or the Officer of the Day and relate the medical facts causing the emergency. He should also have at hand proof of the status of the patient being a veteran, dates of service, etc.

Additional advice and assistance in respect to all aspects of medical care, compensation, pensions, education and insurance may be secured from Forsell at his office in the Memorial Building.

Forsell continued this week to urge those veterans who have allowed their government insurance to lapse to try to see him this month as liberal provisions for reinstatement are due to expire August 1.

ELECTRICAL STRIKE HALTS WORK HERE

Work was halted on six construction jobs in Washington Township last week when eight local electricians were called off the job because of a strike called by Oakland Local B-595, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Of the 65 electrical contractors in Alameda county, 57 are members of the Alameda County Electrical Contractors' Association, against which the strike was called.

The strike was called after the workers reportedly turned down a conditional 25-cent hourly wage increase offer, bringing the local minimum scale from $2 to $2.25 per hour.

The employers conditioned their offer on new definitions of work clearances, changes in the apprenticeship system and protection of existing work contracts entered into before June 30, and rejected the union's demand for a vacation fund, it was reported.

Neither the United States Conciliation Service nor the Alameda County Building Trades Council has been asked to enter the dispute by either of the parties.

The clock in the Ferry Building rises 235 feet above the ground.

Mr. Truman's Temper

Last fall when the election landslide pushed the Democrats out of control of both houses, President Truman extended the olive branch to the Republicans and offered to cooperate with the new Congress.

Lately, the President seems to have forgotten about cooperation.

We say this not solely because he vetoed two of the most important bills passed by Congress in this session—the tax cut and labor control—but because he is becoming increasingly quarrelsome with Congress. Almost everything that Congress does is wrong to the President.

His message to the lawmakers in connection with the proposed tax cut was highly critical, his answer on the labor bill was bitter. On signing the rent control measure "reluctantly" he again attacked congress and called for an investigation of the "real estate lobby."

On this latter point, if Mr. Truman wants any one lobby investigated then all should be looked over—including one of the biggest of all: the Administration and its bulging bureaucracy which is ever lobbying for more and more money.

In 1946 one of the President's big mistakes was in frequently supporting the views of the extreme left wingers of his party. After the November election last year he apparently broke away from their influence. But now, Washington observers point out that he is again siding with them to the extent of repeating their arguments in words remarkably similar to those used by such groups at the CIO and PCA.

The American people don't want Mr. Truman to be a mere "yes-man" to Congress, but they don't want him to be a "yes-man" to the left-wingers either. If he persists, however, in "yessing" the radicals he is likely to get a thunderous "No!" on his bid for another term in office when November 1948 rolls around.

Materials Shortage Easing

After the long drought of building materials there is now ample evidence that supplies are coming into the market in quantities sufficient to meet the huge demand for new dwellings.

A recent report on home and apartment construction made by a representative of the National Housing Administration reveals that in the first five months of this year approximately 300,000 such units were comlpeted. This compared with 98,000 completed in the corresponding period of last year.

In building permits California is accounting for more than one-fifth of the nation's entire total.

With the building materials shortage virtually a thing of the past, more speed should be made toward meeting the acute housing need. There is certainly plenty of money available for construction.

"Home and apartment construction," declared Frank R. Creedon, National Housing Expediter, "is now proceeding at a rate which was not reached until 5 or 6 years after World War I. . . This record has been accomplished despite the fact that World War II was of much longer duration and had a far greater impact on the economy of the entire country."

URGES CHECK ON NEW TAX BUDGETS

"Local taxpayers in Alameda county need to redouble their vigilance during the coming weeks, so far as local government budgets are concerned," N. Bradford Trenham, general manager of California Taxpayers' Association warned this week.

"Good-sized tax rate reductions are in order in many communities despite the upward trend in government expenditures," he declared.

His reasons why reduction in tax rates are due this year include:

1. Anticipated larger total taxable valuations in most communities.
2. Vastly increased state support of public school districts.
3. Legislative increases in state aids to local governments.
4. Passage of bond issues in many places to finance capital outlay programs.

"In addition, some communities have carry-over surpluses which have resulted in part from the prudence of governing boards in holding down spending at today's high price levels," he said.

"Budgets set by local governing boards during the next few weeks will determine the size of the tax rate and the tax bill on property for 1947-48.

"Aggressive citizen action backing economy efforts of local governing boards and demanding full measure tax rate reduction for 1947-48 is needed if local tax bills are to be held within bounds," Trenham declared.

Thinking Things Over . . .

By VIVIAN BATMAN

There's nothing to putting out a grass fire. Really nothing.

Let me tell you how we did it.

We were sitting comfortably in the living room, listening to a caller, Kenneth Henry by name, but by fame he is called other things. Among the Niles Rotarians for instance, (of which he is an illustrious member) he is known as the rich man's fisherman inasmuch as nobody can be quite sure he doesn't BUY all those fish he brags about.

Suddenly someone screeches, 'Fire!"

The editor grabs his coat and puts it on. Ken grabs his coat and takes it off. (Don't ask WHY he does things like that.)

We race down the highway. For the sake of the highway patrolmen who are reading this I'll amend that to "sauntered" down the highway.

We turn off at Morrison Canyon road and arrive at the Norman Rose ranch, in back of which is a fire that is burning like blazes.

Ken sobs, "Poor Norm. Poor Norm. This couldn't happen to a better man!"

Tears come into my eyes, and it is not on account of the smoke which is curling up around us. I dab my eyes with my apron which I have not had time to remove, and I begin to feel very sorry about grazing land and people who own grazing land and the cows who graze on grazing land.

Then I see a man in the road. Ken shouts, "There he is now! Poor Norm. Poor Norm. Poor Norm."

I shut my eyes, not only against the flaming hillside that seems to be swallowing us up in big gulps, but against the pain and agony that I expect to see in "poor Norm's" eyes.

But a calm voice is saying, "Hello, fellows."

Ken shakes hands with Norm and pats him on the back and says consolingly, 'Pretty bad, isn't it, Norm?"

'Well, yes," comes the answer in a matter-of-fact tone which was quite the opposite from the heart-rendering tones I had steeled myself to hear. "Yes, it's pretty bad. But I don't think it's going to come down to the buildings, and the boys are up there now putting up a pretty good fight against it,"

Then Ken says, "The press is here, Norm. You've just got to let us get farther on up the road. Man, we've got to get this fire out!"

More men gather around us. Ken somehow manages to infuse in them the idea that "the press" simply must get through in order to get the fire out.

They finally agree that to stop us from going any farther would be endangering the hillsides for miles around. They suggest, however, that inasmuch as the road is narrow and that fire-fighting equipment is on its way up, that we park the car and "hoof it" the rest of the way.

I hate using our press-tige in this fashion so I suggest we might be doing everybody a greater service by staying just where we are and not going a step farther; besides, the road has a definite upward slant and I'm tired after a day at the office, and I have on my best nylons which are covered only with sandals.

But I'm only a woman, so we start hiking up the road, with Ken leading off in fine fettle.

'We're at the fire now," I say hopefully. "What good will it do to go up any farther on this road?"

I am ignored. After 100 yards of uphill walking, I stop and take out enough gravel and sand from my sandals to make the backyard barbecue pit I have been thinking about.

The men are beginning to puff, though, and in a couple of more yards Ken says, "Poor Vivian, she is getting tired. Maybe we'd better go back." He suggests that the editor walk back and get the car and drive it up to where we are. "You go, son, and I'll stay here to keep my eye on the fire."

So the editor walks back and pretty soon he arrives with the car, which looks almost as good to me as it does Ken.

Then we keep winding up the narrow road. We see several little knots of men on the road who are standing around and looking at the fire and shaking their heads. We tell them we're the press and we simply must get through. It's amazing, but everybody seems to agree that we must get through. So on we go.

Under Ken's direction we wind up at the top of a hill at the entrance to the Al Vieux ranch. "Boy, what a fire!" The two men get out of the car and shake their heads. I sit in the car and wonder when they are going to do something about putting it out.

They discuss the situation and decide the Vieux ranch is safe for the time being and we'd better go back down again.

The car backs up. There's a jolt like maybe we've been thrown from a bucking steer.

We pile out of the car.

Our two sons (I have refrained from mentioning their presence earlier because they read only the first part of my column and if they find themselves in it they become vituperative, which is an understatement)—anyway, my two sons yell, 'Oh, boy. Goody! We're stuck!"

It's true. The rear end of the car is reposing comfortably in a three-foot culvert.

The men kick the tires a couple of times, walk around the car a few times, shake their heads, and pull out cigarettes.

I remind them that if we'd stayed down the highway, there was a nice flat road there with no holes. Aagain I'm ignored.

One half hour later they are still arguing over which is the best way of getting the car out.

I suggest we flip a coin to settle the argument, as it is getting cold up on the hilltop.

Lifting the car bodily out of the rut is the final decision. They make a great to-do over the whole thing, panting, and gasping, and "heave-ho-ing." They finally get the car out. A whole hour has been spent on the hilltop.

We start back down and come to a Y in the road. We decide to go back via Mission San Jose, but another little knot of men at the Y warn us to back up, that more fire trucks are coming.

All of the men gather around the car and start directing us because Ken tells them we're "the press" and we must get through.

One man says, 'Say, don't put MY name in the paper!" (I'm sorry, Mr. Bettencourt, but you did yeoman service.)

Finally we are sailing back along the highway again. We look up to where the fire is burning. Voila! it is only a little trickle of fire now! Everything has been saved!

The two men say, "Boy! That sure was a job!" They then suggest that I go home and make hot coffee and sandwiches for them. as they are completely exhausted.

See how easy it is to put out a fire?

WOULD-BE COWBOYS MAY FACE LAW

Warning was made this week by local deputy sheriffs that certain young would-be cowboys of Niles are running the risk of legal prosecution.

Cows pastured by Anthony B. Perry near Alameda creek have been molested, one young heifer was found recently tied with wire, and fences have been damaged.

Officers are on the lookout for any repetition of these acts.

IRVINGTON BOARD STUDIES TAX LEVY

The members of the Irvington Sanitary Board were unable to levy a tax rate for the district and the newly annexed Mission San Jose area at their meeting Tuesday evening because final figures of the recently completed assessments had not been computed.

The board members, Leonard Freitas, William Rose, Raymond Benbow, J. H. Durham and R. J. Wright, will meet later this month to establish the new tax levy.

PASSENGER AUTOS

About 2,145,000 passenger autos were produced in the United States last year together with 933,000 trucks and busses. This is less than 64 per cent of the number of units produced in 1941 when, in addition to the cars and trucks, automotive plans also produced nearly $500,000,000 worth of armaments.

INDUSTRY AWAITS ELECTRICAL POWER

Another new industry is ready to begin operation in Newark.

H. H. Howe and D. M. Ferguson, owners of the newly erected Howe-Ferguson Juvenile Furniture Manufacturing Company, announced this week that they are ready to begin production just as soon as electrical power can be furnished by the P. G. & E.

"Our building is completed and the equipment is here ready to be set up just as soon as a power line transformer can be located and installed," Howe said.

The company will engage in the manufacture of childrens beds, wardrobes and play yards, all to be constructed of wood.

Howe has been in the furniture business for 40 years, working as superintendent of plants and in the sales departments of plants throughout the midwest. Both he and Ferguson are now living in San Leandro.

Ferguson is relatively new in the furniture manufacturing business, coming here from Minnesota where he held the position of manager of the Pioneer Telephone Company for southeastern Minnesota.

Corn Relish—Recipe for a Popular Hostess

Corn relish is one of those appetizing dishes we rarely enjoy unless we know someone who does home canning and invites us over for a meal. Popular hostesses find that it pays to include corn relish in their home canning plans. The Ball Blue Book recipe for this taste treat is as follows:

2 quarts corn
1 quart chopped cabbage
1 cup green sweet pepper
1 cup sweet red pepper
2 large onions
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons ground mustard
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon celery seed
1 quart vinegar
1 cup water

Boil corn five minutes. Cold dip. Cut from cob. Measure. Chop and measure cabbage and peppers. Chop onions. Combine ingredients and simmer 20 minutes. (More salt and sugar may be added if needed.) Pack into hot jars. Seal at once.

Home-Canned Pickled Beets Are Good Appetizers

Small pickled beets add a colorful and appetizing note to meals the year 'round. Your home canning schedule should include them. Here is an excellent recipe taken from the famous Ball Blue Book on home canning:

1 gallon small beets
2 cups sugar, or 1 cup sugar and 1 cup corn sirup
1 long stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon allspice
3½ cups vinegar
1½ cups water

Cook and skin beets. Add sugar and spices to vinegar and water. Simmer 15 minutes. Add beets. Boil five minutes. Pack beets into hot jars. Cover with boiling sirup. If not enough sirup to cover, add more vinegar. Process five minutes in hot water bath.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, July 13, with the Golden Text taken from I Corinthians: "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (5:8).

Included in the sermon is the following citation:

John: "So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs" (21:15).

HOME CANNED FOODS

BEST BUYS IN JULY AND AUGUST
• Figs
• Pears
• Apricots
• Peaches
• Plums
• Berries

One of the best ways to cut down food costs in your home is to "can all you can" this summer. Buy your fruits and berries and vegetables when crops come in and take advantage of low price "specials." Or if you have a garden that produces an abundance of fresh foods, save by canning or freezing the surplus. Last year, California women put up more than 4,000,000 jars of home canned foods. This year they are planning to can and freeze even more. If you would like authoritative instructions on putting up foods at home, write for the Free "Home Canning Bulletin," (No. 417) Agricultural Extension Division, University of California, 112 Giannini Hall, Berkeley 4. Home canning helps satisfy the big eaters in your family and whets the appetite of "fussy eaters." And most of all, it will save many a dollar in your food budget.

There are two types of Home Freezers that both Freeze and Store. 1. UPRIGHT FREEZERS which open from the side, so that you reach into them as you do your refrigerator. 2. CHEST-TYPE FREEZERS are like a trunk and have either one compartment or several compartments so you can sort or file foods.
